What is Hospice Support?

When a loved one has been enrolled in a hospice program at home, CareAparent recognizes families may need increased assistance during these end-of-life stages.

Hygiene and Wellness

CareAparent caregivers can provide you or your loved one with stand-by assistance or full assistance with showering or bathing, sponge baths, dressing, grooming or changing a depends.

Meals and Feeding Assistance

Preparing and tracking meals for you or your loved one according to their eating ability and appetite will assist with ensuring you or your loved one is still receiving the nutrition needed.

Light Housekeeping

CareAparent caregivers can assist inconspicuously with household tasks such as vacuuming, sweeping, mopping floors or cleaning the bathroom.

Respite Care

As a family member or primary caregiver, it is important to take time for appointments and simply recharge. CareAparent can provide regularly scheduled care during this time without any interruptions in the care your loved one may be receiving from hospice and family.

Medication Reminders

Taking medication according to Hospice's prescription schedule provides the best level of comfort for your loved one. CareAparent caregivers can provide gentle reminders to help ensure medication is taken at the correct times each day.

Errands and Transportation

As your loved one begins hospice care, daily activities can be overwhelming. Our caregivers are happy to run errands or pick up groceries for you or your loved one.

Pet Care

Taking care of an animal may seem overwhelming when you or a loved one is in hospice care. CareAparent caregivers can assist with the daily needs of the furry friend including exercise, providing fresh water and food, or litter changes.

Education and Support

Very often primary caregivers, family members and friends need support and/or have questions during the end of life stages. Our trusted professionals can assist by providing education and training based on families needs, as well as resources for additional training and support.
