

Improving the quality of life through in-home care.

- Skilled Nursing Visits
- Medication Management
- INR Checks & Diabetes Management
- Monitoring Vital Signs & Oxygen
- Catheter & Ostomy Cares
- Wound Care

Skilled Nursing Visits

We offer peace of mind knowing a licensed medical professional, either registered nurse (RN) or licensed practical nurse (LPN), is visiting regularly to manage and improve clinical outcomes for clients in the home while monitoring their physical and mental health conditions.

Medication Management

An important step in maintaining good health is following a medication schedule and understanding the risk associated with each medication to avoid unnecessary admission or rehospitalization. RNs or LPNs can assist in managing medications and schedules, set up medications in boxes and/or dispensers, monitor and order refills, and ensure medications are being taken in the proper dose and at the correct times each day.

INR Checks & Chronic Disease Management

Our clinical team can monitor and manage you or your loved one's INR measure. We work directly with your primary care physician to report your INR results and will make any necessary medication changes. Our RNs and LPNs can monitor and manage ongoing conditions such as diabetes, COPD and CHF and many other chronic conditions.

Monitoring Vital Signs & Oxygen

Managing vital signs such as blood pressure, temperature, oxygen saturation, and pulse is an important way to monitor general health and specific health conditions such as heart disease or hypertension. Nurses are available to take and record vital signs on a regular basis and report any concerns or changes to your primary care physician.

Catheter & Ostomy Cares

CareAparent has RNs and LPNs to provide ostomy and catheter care. These clinicians perform regular maintenance and monitor changes to avoid complications. They are also passionate about educating and training you or a family member about how to perform or assist with catheter and ostomy cares.

Wound Care

CareAparent offers Wound Care management and treatment for our clients with complex, chronic and acute wounds. Providing in-home Wound Care allows healing, improved outcomes and decreased risk of infection in the comfort and control of the home. All care has oversight by on-staff Wound Care Certified Nurse.